Travelled Across Country.

Burlington, April 7.—Congratulations are being extended to Matthew Tracy of San Francisco, Cal., upon a successful journey made by him across the continent all alone and with but a small sum in his pocket to start with. Young Tracy is but 19 years of age. His mother went West in her girlhood and married on the Pacific coast. Her name was Sarah Hogan of this city. Her son has never been East before. The trip was made in about eleven months and the young man passed through twenty states.

He had thirty dollars when he left home. He spent part of this to carry him as far as Nevada and then secured employment to get money to continue the trip. He saw little hardship, although he worked in the mines and in restaurants, as errand boy and in fact at any honest work work he could find to do. He visited many of the large cities of the country and saw a good deal of the world in this way. When he reached Burlington he looked up some relatives where he is now making his home.
